YRJ Flagship Research Program is a rigorous research program that teaches college-level research, writing and presentation skills to high school students in support of the UN Sustainable Development Goals. Students work one-on-one with undergraduate/graduate mentors in advanced study and research of a topic related to their chosen SDG, culminating in a 12-page research paper and 15-minute presentation.

The program is organized by YRJ Academy, a global pioneer of secondary extracurricular programs, and final papers are evaluated by the IEEE Reviewers.
